I completed my M.Ed. school counselling at the State University of New York in February 2006. As a Military officer, I represented the Singapore Armed Forces in the United Nations as a Peace Observer in Iraq and Kuwait. On my return to Singapore after the mission, I became a school counsellor both in the Elementary and high schools with the Ministry of Education. I carried out clinical, group & peer supervision in the absence of the supervisor. I also did the same with my counsellors, organizing and conducting clinical and peer consultations. When I came to BC, Canada, for my professional development, I completed six courses including Clinical Supervision (Oct 2015) from the City University of Seattle at Victoria. At Port Hardy for 5 years, and now at the Tri-Cities, with the PLEA Organization, I carry out Clinical supervision with interns and partner with my supervisor in conducting group supervision, peer supervision, and lots of peer consultation.
