My primary interest area and background in supervision is crisis intervention and short-term counselling psychology. This includes developmental and event-based trauma, accidental crises, and crises that result from role change or other alterations in interpersonal behaviour. I am a Board Certified Expert, Diplomate, in both Traumatic Stress and Emergency Crisis Response, since 2001 (American Academy of Experts in Traumatic Stress, member #2457).

I joined BCACC in 1990 and am a member in good standing. My training and clinical leanings are based on relational psychodynamic insights, person-centered approaches, crisis intervention and short-term dynamic psychotherapy practices, Sensorimotor Psychotherapy (Ogden) and Polyvagal theory and practice (Porges).

The relationship is at the heart of effective therapy for both client and counsellor and supervisor and supervisee. This requires both strong support and, at times, courageous conversations that are respectful and professional. If the supervision is voluntary the process is truly collaborative, exploratory, and learning-based. All supervision is bound by our professional code of ethics.
