I offer both clinical supervision to interns, and clinical consultations to practicing clinicians as well as supervision coaching and mentoring to other supervisors. I teach clinical supervision for City University in the Masters of Counselling program in Victoria, but the majority of my supervision practice is consulting with clinicians and supervisors to back them up in their clinical work. My clinical work with clients is with adults, on individual issues, or couples on their relationship issues touching on the many varied aspects that challenge us in life. I am pleased to work in on-going regularly scheduled sessions or as needed. I work from my home office in Central Saanich. I welcome your inquiries to see if there is a good fit to do some work together.
