An RCC with 35 years in both public mental health and the private sector, my scope of practice involves working with adults, people in relationships, and families. As an educator, I have taught and mentored post-secondary students at the undergraduate and graduate level in Counselling and Clinical Psychology.

The part of my practice devoted to supervision currently focuses primarily on supporting collegial peers who serve as clinical supervisors to MC and Psychology graduate student trainees.

I am also available for collegial consultation in the areas of managing professional relationships, exploring ethical concerns, and effective strategies for facilitating best practice standards.
