My name is Julie Petrynko and I own and run a group practice in Squamish. Within our collective of counsellors, I offer consultation and support to the wonderful group of people I work with in order to remove the feeling that can come with private practice work and instead create an atmosphere of support, belonging and connection.

In addition, for the last several years I have immensely enjoyed working as a supervisor to Masters students, employees of organizations seeking supervision outside of the organization they work within, and other practicing private practice counsellors.

I work with counsellors who support adult individuals, couples, youth and families. I believe in building a report of safety and authenticity to help explore therapy from the felt place of the therapist.

I would be happy to have a phone discovery call to see if I might be the right fit.
