I have been a student of Bowen family systems theory since 1990. Prior to 1990 I worked as a nurse for many years in cardiac, cancer and palliative care. I was interested in observing the various ways families adapted to these challenges. I completed a Master's of Divinity degree to better understand the spiritual needs of people from all races and religions, or no religion, at the end of life. As a coach and supervisor I appreciate the process of working collaboratively with the client or supervisee as insights are gained that contribute to more responsible functioning in one's life and relationships.
